CONFLICT MINERALS STATEMENT FOR CUSTOMERS OF COLDER PRODUCTS COMPANY

In August 2012, the United States enacted the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (the “Act”) which contained a section that regulated “Conflict Minerals”<sup>1</sup> for the first time. The Act includes provisions that require manufacturers to perform due diligence in their supply chains to identify and disclose the use of any Conflict Minerals and whether those Conflict Minerals originated in the “DRC Countries”<sup>2</sup>

Colder Products Company, as an operating company of Dover Corporation, a NYSE listed company, will be compliant with the Act and other regulations concerning the sourcing of our raw materials and the requirements for supply chain due diligence. We require that our suppliers will also comply with our requests to provide statements and perform due diligence about the source of any Conflict Minerals in their products which are provided to us.

Colder Products Company and Dover Corporation are currently implementing processes and procedures to help us achieve compliance with the Act. Our goal is to be compliant in 2014, significantly ahead of the SEC reporting due date of May 2015.

We are communicating our requirements to our suppliers and are putting controls in place. Due to the complexities of the mineral supply chain, Colder Products is currently unable to verify the origin for the minerals used in all of our products. We are working closely with our suppliers and vendors to understand the source countries of metals contained in their products that they supply to us.

We do not knowingly source any product containing Conflict Minerals from the DRC Countries now and will continue our work on this due diligence process. We will advise our customers on the status of our progress.
